fan-favorite Snowboard Knuckle Huck competitions.

Dates: Jan. 21-Jan. 23

TV Coverage: ESPN, ABC

Live Stream: X Games social media channels, ESPN app

Saturday and Sunday host a full slate of X Games action with an ABC and ESPN window each day.

Saturday begins on ABC as queen of X Games, Jamie Anderson, looks to defend her double golds in

Jeep Women's Snowboard Slopestyle and Pacifico Women's Snowboard Big Air. Then evening coverage on ESPN focused on Men's Snowboard and Ski Big Air contests.

Sunday is all about

Ski as the ABC window covers Jeep Men's Ski Slopestyle during the day and ESPN's evening coverage

highlights Men's Ski SuperPipe and Knuckle Huck.

The next few weeks are going to be quite busy for some of the top male and female snowboarders and skiers in the world. That's because a number of them aren't heading to Beijing for the 2022

Winter

Olympics quite yet.

The 2022 Winter X Games are set to take place in Aspen, Colorado, from Friday to Sunday, with a host of medals up for grabs. Among the athletes participating will be several who will then take part in the Olympics in February.

As it has been since 2002, the Winter X Games are being held at Buttermilk Mountain.

However, this year's event will have a special feel after the 2021 edition was held without fans because of the coronavirus pandemic. This year, people who are fully vaccinated will be able to attend the competitions.

During the ABC window on Sunday at 3 p.m. ET, adaptive skier Trevor Kennison will become the first adaptive athlete to hit the Big Air jump at X Games. Originally from Keene, New Hampshire, Kennison went viral as at the Kings and Queens of Corbet's competition in 2019 when he won Rider's

Choice as the only adaptive athlete invited. Paralyzed in a snowboarding accident at 22 years old,

Kennison began adaptive skiing in 2015 with support from the High Fives Foundation. He is now training for the 2022 Winter Paralympics in Beijing and began hitting the backcountry on his sit ski in early 2020. A documentary film about Trevor's life, Full Circle, is slated for release in fall 2022.

X Games Aspen begins today and it's changing the way ESPN broadcasts sports. Starting with events like women's snowboard slopestyle, ski big air, and ski superpipe, five competition windows will exclusively air via streaming on the @XGames social media and the ESPN App, before moving to ESPN for primetime coverage.

ESPN and ABC will showcase 13.5 hours of live competition, 7.5 additional hours will be streamed live on @XGames TikTok, Instagram, YouTube, Facebook, and Twitter and all 21 hours will be live via the

ESPN App. Here's how to watch every second of the action:
